I propose to the DOJ that they do their job in straightening out the criminal Justice System. Have someone do a quality review and get something going to make it more efficient. For example the Jury system stinks, at best.

I am sure you can pass this off as not relevant to your division, but someone somewhere should be doing something about it as we are still operating the same as 50 years ago.

Please pass this on, but it will probably get buried in the bureaucracy, anyway..
